If ever there was the perfect solution downsize home, with the space of a single family home offering plenty of bedrooms and bathrooms - some of which might be for occasional use and others for daily use, plus the space for your "too big home" to accommodate all the possessions you cannot part with...keep on reading! This home will blend your need to "reel in" the overwhelming footprint of your current stressful bewilderment of "what do we do with the dining room table, or the kids stuff, or the treasured hobby space needs". This home answers all of the concerns you are asking yourself- right now! Main floor master- Yes! Dining room you must absolutely have-even though you only use it twice every 3 years-Yes! A main floor primary suite, with outstanding full & private bath - yes. Additional bedrooms on the 2nd floor that your kids will use about as often as the dining room - Yes. What about office/den space, though? Yep! That's covered, too! Great loft area perfect for your home office, Amazon delivery "invitations" and more! This is the largest and most ideal size it down place that "neither of you" can take issue with! The garage holds 2 cars comfortably-great finished basement that you will love, but may never use-BUT hey... it's there-you are creative and imaginative-maybe a dark room for that burning aspiration to explore your future
